RIDING ON A SUNBEAM.

A New Invention For Carrying Sound With-out Wires.

When walking through the laboratory of the Volta Bureau with Dr. A. Graham Bell, the inventor of the telephone, I picked up on one of the shelves a piece of pine board about half an inch thick and eight inches square. Out of the center of it extended a speaking tube, which apparently rested against a thin disk of bright metal sunk into the opposite side. This metal was like a silver mirror, and was about as large around as the bottom of a tumbler. I asked Dr. Bell what it was, and he told me that it was a perfected instrument whose original construction enabled him to project his voice from one point to another through the medium of a sunbeam. It enabled him, in other words, to send sounds along a ray of light without the aid of an electric wire. He took the instrument and put the tube to his mouth, bending the mirror so that it caught the sun and cast a little shadow disk of light on the opposite wall. Then by breathing slightly he made this shadow increase and diminish, and assume various shapes by the action of his breath against the mirror diaphragm.

"That shows you," said he, "how the action of the diaphragm is carried along the ray. Now, if you will put a little bottle with some soap in it where that shadow is on the wall, and speak into the tube, you will find that the sound will travel along that ray of light, and by having a receiver connected with the bottle one would be able to hear what you are saying. We have spoken by this means to and from points 200 yards apart, and there seems to be no reason to doubt that speech may be sent along a beam of light for great distances.

In our experiment in this we first used selenium, a very rare substance, and very sensitive to light. We have found, however, that we can produce very good results with common soap, and the discoveries may yet be made which will make such an invention commercially practicable."

World's Progress.

NATURE OF THE ELDER DUMAS.

Mme. Dorval, the Actress, Always Called Her "Good Dog."

I did not meet the elder Dumas until he was on the wane, but was acquainted with him before he fell under the influence of Adiah Isaacs Menken. When young, his hair was fair, then dark, but when I saw him it was gray and in texture less woolly than the negro's. His lips were thick and extended from ear to ear when he laughed, and his teeth were uneven and set apart from each other. He flattered himself that his nose was straight. It was, however, lumpy, with wide, strongly marked and quivering nostrils. To the pride of life he was insensible. But he was a slave of the flesh, though in a fitful way, and the never ceasing pressure of creditors obliged him to run against his conviviality. One saw that he was a force of nature and a child of nature.

His small hands and feet and his singularly acute though good natured blue eyes alone indicated blood derived from a long line of civilized northern ancestors. There were traces of Africa in his speech. His laugh was a guffaw, but its hilarity was contagious. When a case of suffering was made known to him, his face at once fell, and if he knew the sufferer the broad face contracted, and he howled until he had spent his grief. Mme. Dorval, whom he and Victor Hugo thought the greatest actress of her time, for emotional purity, used to call him her "son chien" and her "gros chien." In the hour of death she did not let me tell this term of endearment, which any one else would have restricted. However dogish in many respects, but of the generous, impulsive, New England type— "The higher the animal, the lower the creature."

INDEBTEDNESS.

A borrower can always lose his way.

Even in debt to God and circumstance.

I am not the man who mind the concourse gay,

And when in pensile mood noble I stray,

This is cretified off to my remembrance.

Of time I borrow every passing hour

And barely draw from health's upspringing

From myriad minds I call rich thoughts that shower,

And to true Love, in her sequestered bower,

I am indebted by a long account.

The gorgon placed beside the bed of pain,

The silent hand grasp, when celestial day

First dawns to those whose steps we fain would stay.

Are lent, to be returned in kind again.

The Door of Life.

The fear of pain and the dangers of parturition fill many a woman's breast with dismay. There is no reason why childbirth should be fraught with danger and distress. It is a perfectly natural function and should be performed in a natural way without undue suffering. Nature never intended that women should be tortured when doing the one thing which makes them wholly womanly. The perversion of nature's laws has brought this suffering about, and a return to right living will stop it.

Nine out of ten women are troubled more or less by weakness and diseases peculiar to their sex. It is so because they do not take proper care of themselves because they neglect little fits and little precautions. A woman in perfectly hearty health goes through her time of trial with comparative ease. The thing to do then, is to make all expectant mothers healthy—to strengthen them generally and locally. The medicine and tonic to do it with is Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

It is a powerful invigorant and nerve. It soothes and strengthens the nerves and acts directly on the feminine organism in a way which fits it for the proper and regular performance of all its functions at all times.

Taken during gestation it relieves both mother and child, by preparing the system for delivery thereby shortening labor, lessening pain and abbreviating the period of confinement.

OPPOSED TO UNIFICATION.

The plottocratic papers which pretend to be for free coinage, are strenuously opposing unification of the Silver forces and advise the Populists to run a straight ticket and make no combination with the straightforward Silver men.

That is the kind of advice that every emissary of Wall street, every gold man in the country, whether disguised as a Republican, a Democrat or a Populist, is giving the people. The gold standard men know that a unification of the free coinage elements of all parties means the downfall of the gold trust and the election of a free coinage President. To prevent this they will resort to every means within their power. Men whose prejudices overbalance their judgment are encouraged to remain with the old parties and placemakers, above prosperity. They are advised to pay more attention to party names than to party principles, and keep aloof from those with whom they agree on the main issue, and with whom they differ only on minor matters. Money will be lavishly expended to engender strife in the ranks of those who believe that the cause of the present depression is the contraction of the currency, incident to the maintenance of the gold standard, for a unification of the silver men would insure the election of a Silver President.

It is now quite probable that Silver Republicans, led by Teller and others, will not support the nominees of the St. Louis Convention for President. It is also evident that the Silver Democrats will not support the Chicago nominees if he be a gold standard advocate. If these Silver Republicans and Democrats unite with the Silver and Populist Conventions at St. Louis, and all nominate a Presidential ticket, who can doubt the election of that ticket next November? If, however, through the machinations of the gold men, all these elements are divided and support different persons for President, the Wall street standard, whether he be McKinley, Allison, Reed, Morton, or Suer, will have a walkover, and the financial policy of Cleveland, which is the Republican policy, will be continued for four years more.

Do the people want a continuation of the single gold standard, with all the misery that it entails? If they do they will create dissensions among those who are opposed to it and insure the election of a goldbug President; if they do not they will make common cause against a common enemy, ignore minor differences, unite on a candidate who is pledged to free coinage and elect him President of the United States.

THE IRONY OF FAKE.

Two years ago, when the Republicans resolved to introduce partisanship in the school election at Carson for the purpose of convincing the country that the party would carry Nevada at the general election in 1894, they selected John T. Jones as a candidate for school trustee. Mr. Jones was then Assistant Melter and Refiner at the Mint, a position which he occupied for years. He spent money lavishly and was acknowledged to be the most popular member of his party in Carson. He was elected with a whoop, and the result was telegraphed all over the country and pointed to with pride by Republican statesmen and newspapers as proof that Nevada, though a silver-producing State, would elect a Republican ticket at the ensuing general election. When the election was held the returns showed that the opinion of the Republican statesmen and papers was at variance with that of the people, as the whole silver ticket was elected. And now John T. Jones, who was the most popular Republican at the Capital two years ago, and was utilized as such to show that Nevada was going Republican, is serving an eight-years' sentence in the State Prison for robbing the Government, whose property he was sworn and paid to protect, and the vacancy on the School Board caused by this unfortunate trait in Mr. Jones's character has been filled by the appointment of General Clarke, who, as counsel for the Government, assisted in closing the wrong doing of Mr. Jones and having him sent to the Penitentiary.

TELLER ENDORSED.

Colorado Republicans have endorsed Senator Teller. They are for silver before party, and like their noble Son, do not hesitate to say so. Teller will go to St. Louis backed by the party in his State, and if a gold candidate is nominated he will walk out. Will the Nevada delegation follow Teller and declare for silver and prosperity, or pledge their support to a goldbug, with the hope of getting one of the 780 offices not under the civil service rules?

A bolt at the St. Louis convention, as well as at the Chicago convention, is now inevitable, and it is possible that the gold men of the two old parties will quit their sham fight over the tariff and work together openly, as they have been doing secretly.

CLEVELAND NOT A CANDIDATE.

It is announced on what appears to be good authority that President Cleveland has written a letter to Don M. Dickinson in which he says he cannot again accept a nomination for the Presidency. The principal reason as sign for this determination is that his health will not permit him to stand as a candidate. This letter is to be made public when any State convention declares for Mr. Cleveland. If the seal of secrecy is to be kept on the letter until that occurs the public will not see the letter in print. There are gold men and plenty of them in the Democratic party, but not one who has the courage to propose Mr. Cleveland for a third term. They draw the line at an endorsement of his administration in conventions controlled by the gold trust, but they venture no farther. A convention that would endorse Mr. Cleveland for a third term would have to be composed of the Rothschilds and their agents.

COLORADO REPUBLICANS.

They endorse Senator Teller—Free Coinage Before Party.

PUEBLO, Colo., May 14.—Delegates to the Republican State Convention are split up into factions, and unless a compromise is effected there will be two delegations selected to the National Convention. The Wolcott men threaten to bolt unless he as well as Teller be endorsed by the convention.

The delegates from forty-two of the forty-two counties in the State held a caucus and adopted the following, which will be incorporated in the platform:

"We hereby endorse the course of our representative member in Congress on the silver question, and hereby endorse Hon. Henry M. Teller in his stand and actions in the United States Senate on tariff, in maintaining that no tariff legislation be passed by Congress until silver is restored to its proper place in the currency of the country and there is free coinage of that metal at the ratio with gold of 16 to 1."

J. F. Sanders to-day received a telegram from Wolcott declining to permit his name to be considered in electing delegates.

Charles Brickenstein of Conejos and C. G. Hart of Pueblo, were elected delegates to the St. Louis Convention from the Second Colorado District by the Republican Convention held this afternoon, and Senator Teller was endorsed.

A SAVAGE MARSUPIAL.

An Australian Mammal That Is a Whole Menagerie In Itself. The so called zebra wolf of Australia is also called the native tiger; but, strange to say, it is not even a cousin to zebra, wolf or tiger, belonging to the same family as the kangaroo, the slow and gentle wombat and the shy old opossum—all those animals that carry their babies in their pockets.

The eyes, which are large, are furnished with a membrane, like the eyes of owls, and this is called the nictitating membrane. This is almost continually moving in the daytime, as the eyes are exposed to more or less of sunshine. Without this membrane the amount of light admitted through the large pupil would puzzle the zebra wolf.

The general color of the somewhat shaggy wool is grayish brown, a little inclined to yellowish. Across this ground color, the black bands show up sharp and clear. These stripes are usually 14 in number, beginning just back of the shoulders, where they are narrow, and growing broader and longer back of the haunches. The skins are in demand for top robes and rugs, which gives an added reason for hunting the wearers.

Two zebra wolves were taken to the zoological gardens in London, where they flourished and raised a family. When they came, it was thought Great Britain would be too cold for them, but there seems to be no reason why they should not thrive even in Canada, as they have been known to live on the mountains of Tasmania, 8,500 feet above the sea level, where the ground is sometimes covered with snow for many weeks and frosts are severe.

Do you wonder that his name is slightly mixed? The marvel is that he is not named menagerie and done with it, for with his doglike face and short wolf ears, eyes like an owl, zebra stripes and a pouch like a kangaroo, his mixed pickle beastship could answer to almost any name you might wish to call him. When he becomes extinct, we can truly say we ne'er shall see his like again.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Nature's Noblemen.

Two self supporting gentlemen were recently comparing their experiences of the past few years, and both declared that on two occasions when they had been treated uncivilly by persons of the other sex it had been by those who were known in the social world as gentlemen. George Meredith has made Digna of the Crossways to say:

"The English gentleman trades on his reputation. In a third class carriage no woman is unprotected."—London Sun.

At the Navy Yard,

"So this is the minie rifle?"

"Yes, man."

"And that's the maxim gun?"

"Yes, man. The minie-nun?"

PEOPLE'S PARTY PRINCIPLES.

The Platform of the California State Convention.

First.—The People's party of the State of California reaffirm the principles of the Omaha platform and demand direct legislation by the initiative referendum and proportionate representation.

Second.—We denounce the policy of the Democratic and Republican parties in maintaining the gold standard and in issuing bonds to purchase gold to pay National obligations, which are, on their face and by law, payable in either gold or silver coin. And we condemn the hypocrisy of the Republican party for denouncing Grover Cleveland for so issuing bonds, while it has, by its Representatives in Congress, upheld that policy and refused to vote for bills presented by Populist Senators to restrain the issue of such bonds without the consent of Congress.

Third.—We demand that whenever monopoly becomes oppressive, it shall be taken possession of by, and owned and operated in the interest of the people, just remuneration being first made for the property taken.

Fourth.—We oppose and denounce all bills to fund or extend the payments of the Pacific Railroad debts, and we oppose any settlement by which these roads are to remain in the hands of any private person or corporation unless these debts are paid in full at maturity; and unless so paid, we demand that the Government, by virtue of the terms of the mortgages, enter into and take possession of these roads and operate the same as National enterprises in the interest of the people; and upon foreclosure, if there is a deficiency, that the Government pursue every legal or equitable remedy to recover any such deficiency from those responsible therefor.

Fifth.—We favor genuine protection to American labor by the restriction of foreign labor and by a true American system of finance which will render justice to labor and industry and restrain the evils of usury. And we demand the creation of a National non-partisan tariff tribunal of experts by Congress, which shall be under the control of Congress, to the end that the tariff agitation may be taken out of politics, and to the end that the tariff schedules shall be so adjudged that they shall result to the benefit of labor and not to trusts. And we denounce the Democratic and Republican parties for refusing to properly restrict immigration of foreign labor when having power so to do in Congress.

Sixth.—We demand the enfranchisement of women upon the same terms now enjoyed by men, and to that end pledge our votes and most earnest efforts to procure the adoption by the people of this State at the next general election of the eleventh amendment to the Constitution.

Seventh.—We demand that salaries of public officials, which in many instances remain as high as in times of prosperity, shall be reduced in the proportion that the prices of products and prosperity have fallen, and that county offices be consolidated wherever practicable. We promise to conduct the government of this State efficiently upon a tax of 50 cents on the $100 dollars; and we condemn both Republican and Democratic administrations in this State for having broken their platform pledges in this respect, and for extravagance, whereby almost as much money is levied to carry on the affairs of the State as is levied to conduct the State Government of New York.

Eighth.—We view with apprehension the encroachments of the Federal judiciary upon the liberties of the people, as evidenced by the decisions of the recent contempt and income tax cases, and are therefore in favor of an amendment to the National Constitution prohibiting that tribunal, or any other court, from annulling any Congressional Act.

Ninth.—Resolved, That we condemn the dishonest action of such Assessors in this State as are habitually and corruptly under-estimating the values of the properties of the banks, corporations and wealthy classes of this community.

Resolved, That we pledge the People's party to nominate Assessors who will obey the law, observe their oaths and assess such properties in the manner required by the Constitution. We furthermore protest against the collection of the poor man's taxes on personal property in this State by forced levy and sale without process of court; and we pledge ourselves to the repeal of the iniquitous statute that permits it at the next session of the legislature.

Tenth.—We favor good roads. The People's party is pre-eminently the party of public improvements, and were its financial demands in operation all roads would be made good.

Eleventh.—We favor the support of the free public school system, and oppose public moneys being used for any sectarian work.

Twelfth.—Resolved, That we favor a regular force at St. Louis on July 23, provided it can be beneficially effected without the sacrifice of the People's party.

Thirteenth.—We condemn the legislation of a Government which permits a vast army of its citizens to hopelessly beg for employment, while public highways and public work are parcelled out to favorite contractors. We demand that all public work shall be carried on without the intervention of contractors, under skilled superintendents, and that preference be given in all such work to our own unemployed citizens.

We favor homes as the true foundation of a free and happy people, and we demand that the property of each citizen, to the extent of $500, be exempt from taxation; and we favor a graduated tax upon land whereby the ratio of tax shall increase as the value of land is greater in a single hand, to the end that great estates in land may be broken up, and that land monopoly may be destroyed.

We renew and emphasize our demand for the free and unlimited coinage of silver with gold at the ratio of 16 to 1. The following plank, submitted by the special committee appointed to draft a financial resolution, was with held to await the action of the National Convention:

We are in favor of sound money, and define the same to consist of gold and silver and United States notes, full legal tender for all debts, public and private, issued by the general Government, without the intervention of banking corporations and in volume sufficient to transact the business of the country on a cash basis, and demand the restoration of silver to the place it occupied before its demonetization in 1873.

The Central Nevadan says: E. E. Starratt had his right leg broken just above the ankle by a horse kicking him last Thu. sday evening. Dr. Hood set the broken limb and Mr. Starratt is getting along as nicely as can be expected, but it will be some little time before he will be able to be around.

The Knights of Labor journal says: The owner of $1,000 invested in Western Union Telegraph stock in 1858, has been paid down to the present time $50,000 in stock and $100,000 in cash dividends, an average of 399 per cent per annum. And our "selected solon" at Washington say that the Government might lose money if it tried to run the telegraph."

THE KINKEAD MILL.

Will It Supersede the Old Stamp Crusher.

The Kinkead quartz mill, it is claimed, will do the work of five stamps with less than half the power, and can be built and put in operation for less than half the cost of stamps. The cheapness in the first cost and operation of this mill makes it possible to work with profit ores so low in value that they have heretofore been treated as waste. The Appeal says each mill will crush fifteen tons in twenty-four hours through a 40-mesh screen. It requires a two-horse power crude oil engine, at a cost of ten cents per horse power per ten hours' run. The price of the mill, f. o. b. San Francisco, is $1,000. It will be personally examined in the near future, and its merits, if they are as claimed, will be made known at a later date.

Everything being as claimed, we believe that ore the summer wanes, one will be in operation for experiment in Pine Nut. The inventor says ores bearing $4 in gold per ton can be worked at a good profit. The entire plant will cost about $1,600.

Beautiful Society Drama.

The Carson News says the Shaw Company in "Farmer Stebbins," won the confidence of the Carson public last evening. The house was crowded too, every seat was filled and extra ones will be put in to-night. The play was a pretty little rural comedy with an occasional touch of genuine pathos. There were many pretty little situations and some very dramatic ones. The acting was splendid, and there was no wait between acts or scenes.

To-night this excellent company present "La Belle Marie," the beautiful society comedy in five acts. The display of costumes used in this piece will in itself repay the price of admission. The orchestra also has some very fine selections for this evening.

Once or twice he seemed to know those around him for a moment, but would immediately drop into the condition that he has been in for over forty-eight hours. The Fire Bell.

Just before one o'clock this morning Officer Nash discovered a peculiar light in the western part of town, and on further investigation, saw quite a volume of smoke rising. In a jiffy he was sprinting up Sierra street toward the engine house and the clang of the fire bell disturbed many a person who, perhaps, had just got settled down for the night. The steamer was soon on the way to the fire, and, as usual, the boys did rapid work, although the fire was at the extreme west end of town and some little time was consumed in getting to it.

The alarm was caused by the burning of a small house in Burke Bros' brick yard. The loss will probably reach $30. Tramps were seen around the building late last evening, and it is supposed they had carelessly left lighted cigarette snips lying about or thrown matches into rubbish near the place, and the fire smouldered until midnight before breaking out. No one was seen about the place immediately following the alarm by any one living in the neighborhood.

The Glee Club Entertainment.

A good audience gathered in the Assembly Hall at the University last evening to enjoy a splendidly arranged musical program given under the auspices of the University Glee Club. Every number on the program was well rendered and met with hearty approval from those present. The boys were quite pleased with the success they had, but would probably have had a larger audience had the entertainment taken place down town.

County Clerk Porter Has an Amusing Experience.

An Elko resident applied to County Clerk Porter yesterday for a marriage license and gave the names of the contracting parties. Not understanding the situation exactly, and the applicant for the license having told Mr. Porter that the young lady was his niece, the Clerk told the gentleman that the laws of the State prohibited the marriage of an uncle to his niece and before issuing the license he parties had better consult the District Attorney. The man started out, but as he reached the door of the Clerk's office he turned and said to Mr. Porter: "I no wanta to marry da girl myself, I have da wife and four children. I no wanta no more, da me uncle of da girl and another feller catcha him." The explanation was satisfactory and Mr. Porter issued the necessary license.

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA.

Sores. We had three different doctors. Pieces of bone came out of the sores. The last doctor said the leg would have to be cut open and the bone scraped, before he could get well. Howard became so low that he would eat nothing, and one doctor said there was no chance for him.

That is the secret of its success. Read this statement:

"When my son was 7 years of age, he had rheumatic fever and acute rheumatism, which settled in his left hip. He was so sick that no one thought there was any help for him. Five sores broke out on his thigh, which the doctor said were
